

About Us

7 Cups of Tea is an online emotional support service and community of caring listeners. We connect people who want to talk to someone with a listener trained in compassionate communication. Our listeners come from all walks of life and have diverse experiences. It's free to start a call or chat, and completely anonymous. We connect individuals to our listeners using a secure bridging technology that ensures a private conversation.

How can organizations and other websites work with 7 Cups of Tea?

Getting involved with 7 Cups of Tea extends your reach and adds incredible value to what you already offer. We welcome involvement in a number of ways, from simply linking to our site in your resources area, embedding our Connect Now Widget, or becoming an official Partner. You'll gain access to our community of listeners and our emotional support infrastructure at no cost.

Enable your community to support one another!

Your customers, members, and even your employees can use our chat and phone service for on-demand, one-on-one emotional support.
